Pastor's Reflection

Dear members and friends,

Hope my pastor's note finds you well! We enter the summer months, the Season of Pentecost, with gratitude for ways we perceive God's Spirit moving in and among us in the beauty of people, landscapes, and periods for refreshment and renewal. What will the summer months bring for you this year?

What comes to mind when we say summer? Perhaps we respond with school breaks, work breaks and warm days to enjoy a swim, a walk, a picnic or just an extra nap! When I talk with folks who live their lives according to the school year, the academic calendar, they are eager to get those weeks of vacation break before the new round of demands begins of calendar regimentation. R&R is treasured! And, of course, some folks are in "retirement" mode and can plan their breaks at a more leisurely pace.

Whatever our situations in life, we cherish summer and the time to perceive God in new ways; essentially, we allow Sabbath time to provide "spiritual" refreshment and fresh perspectives. As you go into those "breaks" or transition to the "flow of summer," take these quotes with you and perceive God through the interconnectedness of all creation:

"This truly is the vision of God; never to be satisfied in the desire to see him. But one must always, by looking at what he can see, rekindle his desire to see more." St. Gregory of Nyssa (key word for me was "rekindle"—what about for you?)

"The universe is but one vast symbol of God." Thomas Carlyle

"Absolutely unmixed attention is prayer." Simone Weil

(Speaking about God) "You are the deep innerness of all things. The last word that can never be spoken. To each of us you reveal yourself differently; to the ship as a coastline, to the shore as a ship." Rainer-Maria Rilke

(From the New Testament) "When Jesus was alone, those who were around him along with the twelve asked him about the parables. And he said to them, 'To you has been given the secret of the kingdom of God, but for those outside, everything comes in parables; in order that they may indeed look, but not perceive, and may indeed listen, but do not understand: so that they may not turn again and be forgiven.' Mark 4: 10–12

From the Gospel, we read that Jesus wanted us to go deeper and draw upon our spiritual wisdom to know God and trust God's presence. He was not satisfied to simply state a fact, through parables and stories, Jesus invited us to "think" and tease out the deeper meaning of life's tough questions. The parables, the stories, are still around us if we only look, listen, and perceive that "God is still speaking."

One more poem for those days of calm or chaos to rest and perceive God's presence in the images around us:

Riverwater Moving

In the late afternoon knife blades of broken sunlight slice the dark water. I imagine I'm inside its silvery body. What I feel is a quiver, or a dance, as innocently improvised as the sounds of rain when it taps on the river's table.

Little by little I journey into the persistent choreography of shifting images. They come and they go, like the art of the seasons or like the lessons of right and wrong learned as a child—not so easy to tell apart anymore, but no matter for at this moment some ripple of awareness stirs the spume.

I quicken my pace, push past the rapids even though there's no hurry, really. I know I'll stand in still waters again able to inhale the harmony and disharmony of human affairs, clouds moving, the sky sucked down into thirsty molecules, and little by little the measured air steals the water. Yet, somewhere circling inside each atom and cell, I see the image of all riverwater moving in all rivers at once.

(E. D. Roberts is a poet who writes on the themes of loss, love and destiny)

So, what will your perceptions be of God as you go into the summer weeks? What will you see, learn, absorb through moments of prayer and reflection? My prayer is that we may look and listen for the transcendent through our summer days and pay attention to the little ways that God teaches us to find vision and hope for our daily needs and the needs of our congregation.

With the glow of our confirmands being received in the church in May and our upcoming new member Sunday in June, we have new hope and promise of God's abiding presence in our life together. I hope that we can continue to reach to one another through our opportunities for worship, study, fellowship. Thank you for the many ways you serve and support the church that keeps us aware of our needs for God and for each other to sustain and strengthen us for life's journey.

Thank you for the time away this summer for study and vacation time. I cherish the moments to "perceive" God's face in new ways! We are blessed at CCAV to have special services ahead led by our members/friends. Please see the schedule in this newsletter and plan to be present for worship/study/fellowship when you can.

Grace and peace and thanks for a still speaking God,
Rev. Ann Michele Rogers Brigham, Pastor

Welcome Visitor!

Whether you're visiting with us because you're looking for a church, or accompanying a friend or family member, we bid you a hearty welcome!

We welcome all who would join us on our journey—for a day, a week or a lifetime—to discover who we are now and who we can become on this road of faith and inquiry. We embrace our diversity of thought and scriptural understanding. We respect and honor all who seek to be in covenant with us as we share in the joys and responsibilities of our church family.

We are a warm and friendly bunch, but we're not perfect! So, if in our excitement to greet our church family members, we forget our manners, please talk to us, introduce yourself and ask us lots of questions!

And if you want to dig deeper and learn more about our church, please visit us at:
www.CongregationalChurchOfAlmadenValley.org.

Moderator's Note

Spring is here in all its glory! We are surrounded with gorgeous green fields and bursts of colorful flowers, thanks to the much-needed rain we received and the beautiful California sunshine we experience daily. Life can't help but burst forth in joy. I love the springtime with its newness of life, fresh air, and bright sunshine—making everything seem eager and enthusiastic with the excitement of new beginnings. For me, as the school year winds down, I get excited as I plan for next year, even in my exhaustion as the end-of-the-year craziness just moves faster. I become creative in my thinking and planning, and I enjoy brainstorming with staff what “could be” as we talk about yet another school year. It is what keeps us going—that dedication and the excitement we feel when thinking about our students and their eagerness to learn. It comes at such a perfect time of the year, too, with the promise of new beginnings in the freshness of the spring-time!

That is where I hope you are in the life of our church – enthusiastic and eager to move forward! We set some lofty goals as a Council last January, which I shared with you in the Kalos last quarter. We have addressed and discussed those goals at each of the council meetings since then just to make sure we are staying on track, and we are making progress – even though at times it seems slow and exhausting. We are doing many more things together in fellowship and discussion after church each month to strengthen our bonds with each other. We have found new and more current ways to advertise our church activities, thereby making ourselves more visible. We are working on developing a new caring ministry program with a strong team of dedicated people leading it. We have opened the lines of communication with ECA and are working towards strengthening our bond with them. This year we had a confirmation class with two beautiful and enthusiastic young ladies. We are planning a new membership Sunday in June, where we will be welcoming several new members into our church family. Our church building got a fresh coat of paint both outside and inside, as well as a beautiful facelift in the fellowship hall and kitchen. Maria continues to perform outstanding music for us each week, and the Folk and Shalom Choirs have outdone themselves this year with their dedication and musical offerings. The matrix is filled each week with dedicated and enthusiastic members wanting to contribute to the life of our church. The list goes on and on. We are continuing to thrive at church. We are small, but dedicated—and blessed with each other! And committed to keeping our church alive.

I hope you are feeling enthusiastic with the freshness of spring. I hope you are rejuvenated and motivated to help—not only to keep our little church afloat, but to make it thrive! As we move through spring, notice God’s beauty all around you. Breathe it in and let it refresh your soul. Then with that nourishment, share your enthusiasm and excitement with us at church. We need all of you to continue on our forward moving path. You are an important part of our church, and we would not be who we are without each one of you. Together, we can do great things!

Thank you for being a part of my church family.

Blessings and joy to you!
Debbie Bemis

Thank You!

We extend thanks for special gifts to us! Here are just a few “mentions” and please know there are many more to share as we think about past gifts and present ones!

- Thanks to Kelly Yamanishi and Tom Gerber for changing info on our CCAV church banners and to Kelly for her management of FB and the encouragement to check out our FB page with “likes!” We are always grateful to our webmaster Ted Feely for keeping our info up to date on the web page.
- Thanks to Michael Moore for attending to the elevator inspection needs, making contacts and recommendations to JV Board for the future needs.
- Mother’s Day flowers were given to all in our congregation on Mother’s Day, May 8! Thank you to Jan Blake and Debbie Bemis for the coordinating and providing this gift to us.
- Ruthanne Adams Martinez provided a wonderful harp program for our JV Churches and Community. We say thank you to her and to all who performed with her and helped coordinate our salad supper.

Eagle Scout Project Work

Thank You to Cameron Li

Cameron Li, Eagle Scout candidate, and Troop 294 were hard at work on the project the JV Board approved at the rear of the church (patio area) on Saturday, May 14. We are thankful to all who contributed to his project and for his presentations to us at the JV Board and to our congregations at our Sunday morning worship services. A special thanks to John McPherson for working with him from our JV Board.

From Julian Street Shelter

Thank You to CCAV

Patti Dolan, Program Director of Julian Street Shelter and Colleen Budenholzer, Deputy Program Director of JSI, and Staff, asked Connie and Mike Moore to extend their sincere appreciation for the terrific gifts made by our church for the last few weeks and months. Our members contributed money sufficient to provide nearly 30 brand new winter jackets at a time when they were urgently needed. We are providing disposable razor blades for folks so they can look presentable for job interviews. Most recently we delivered 82 pairs of new men's underwear and 56 pairs of new women's underwear. Colleen also had an emergency and asked if we could possibly replace the failed staff refrigerator (they kept their lunches in it). Thanks to the continuing support of Phyllis Chai and the Outreach Committee, we were able to deliver a very nice replacement which was delivered the next week. Thank You CCAV, UCC!!!! Thanks to the Outreach Committee for supporting all of this!!! And special thanks to the Headlight Polishing Team volunteers who raised the funds for this effort! It is greatly appreciated.

Congratulations to Our Confirmands!

Alison Yamanishi and Hannah Yamanishi were baptized in March 2004 at our church by Rev. Julianne Stokstad. Here are their brief biographical statements and their faith statements that were shared on Sunday, May 15, their Confirmation day.

Alison Writes

I was born in San Jose in 1998 and have lived in the same house all my life. As child my cat Ollie was my best friend. We would hang out in the back yard. I spent my summers at Sunset Beach with my mom's family. As I grew up people said I was a "pet whisperer." Today I play accordion and compose my own songs. I like to draw anime creatures. I like to play Kirby video games. I am graduating high school this year and plan to go to West Valley College in the fall.

About Faith—We're all working hard to get to know God. We might not understand as much as we think we do, but what we do know is that his love for us is grand and he'll help us understand.

Hannah Writes

Hannah is a short bundle of nerdiness with a side of anime. She loves to play video games (her favorite is League of Legends) and she loves to draw all the time.

About Faith—I believe that God is everywhere, in everyone, whether they acknowledge it or not. The church is a holy place of gathering where when the people sing, so, too, does the Holy Spirit inside you. And while we face our trials every day, God wants us to support each other, until he can accept us into his kingdom at the end.

Special Thanks from Pastor Michele

Thanks from Pastor Michele to many who assisted with our Confirmation teaching and the Service of Confirmation on May 15:

- Rev. Debra Newcomb—thanks to Debra for teaching our newly confirmed members Hannah and Alison Yamanishi about worship in the Jewish tradition. She organized their visit and reception to the synagogue in Willow Glen last March.
- John and Diane Hawes and Phyllis Chai for being our confirmation mentors during the program.
- Anne Mayer for doing the calligraphy on the Confirmation Certificates.
- Connie and Mike Moore for the lovely wrist corsages for Alison and Hannah.
- Kelly and Greg Yamanishi for being supportive parents for Hannah and Alison's through the confirmation program.
- Tohbee and Joan for organizing the Confirmation brunch celebration after worship.
- Susie Ferguson's participation in our Confirmation Sunday and her guidance as our CE Director.

Thanks from the Yamanishi Family

Alison and Hannah Yamanishi, and their parents Greg and Kelly, want to thank Pastor Michele, sponsors Phyllis Chai, Diane and John Hawes, and Debra Newcomb (who took them to Synagogue) for their confirmation study time together. Thanks also to Susie Ferguson (Christian Education Director) and Dana Renfand, both of ECA, who facilitated the girls' participation as "shepherds" in the ECA Sunday School program. Thanks to Connie Moore for seeing to the lovely wrist corsages that smelled so good, and to the Chai's for the altar flowers! And, of course, many thanks all of CCAV, UCC for the wonderful confirmation service Sunday, May 15, for the delicious potluck

Ongoing

Quest Group: The Quest ladies group which meets in the choir room on Wednesdays from 9:30 a.m.–11:00 a.m. continues to read and discuss Credo by William Sloane Coffin.

Please know that you are welcome to join or just “show up.” For questions or a ride, please contact Phyllis Chai, 408-226-7150. The group’s last meeting till Wednesday, September 7 will be on Wednesday, June 15.

Events

NCNC Annual Meeting June 16–19: We are a member church of the Northern CA/NV Conference (NCNC) of the United Church of Christ. The opening statement on the website is: Whoever you are, wherever you are on life’s journey, you are welcome here! We are 118 local churches and about 383 ministers, from Eureka to Tulare, from Monterey to Reno, and everywhere in between. Some of our churches were founded during the early years of the California gold rush, and others have formed more recently. All of us started with a desire to be people of worship, education, fellowship and ministry to our communities. Our mission is to unite ourselves as a covenant community and support and nurture each other as together we seek to make God’s gracious love known and real in our lives and in the world.

Each year the NCNC has an annual meeting in June. Ministers/Lay members/friends attend for community, dialogue, decision making and commitment to support our common mission. Speak to your pastor or others who have attended the meetings of the Conference to learn more! If you are interested in attending this year, you are welcome to register.

Fall Women’s Retreat: The annual Fall Women’s Retreat sponsored by the Disciples of Christ/Christian Church of N. CA/NV will again be held at Missions Springs Conference Center in Scott’s Valley, this year from Friday, September 23–Sunday, September 25. UCC women are always invited to attend. Give yourself this wonderful gift, and save the dates! Our own NCNC, UCC Conference Minister, Diane Weible will be the keynote speaker. Look for more information to come. For questions, please contact Phyllis Chai (408-226-7150).

OGHS: Our OGHS (“One Great Hour of Sharing”) offering in the Spring totaled $765.00. We are grateful for the sharing of our gifts for this annual Special Offering.

Crop Walk: Contributions from our congregation in April to the annual South Bay CROP Hunger Walk totaled $110.00. Thank you!

Shelter Feeding: Our congregation continues to serve the evening meal on the third Tuesdays of each month at Julian St. Inn and Commercial St. Inn. Two servers are needed to go to “J.S.I.” and one to “C.S.I.” Also, banana jell-0 is prepared at church after our service on the Sunday prior to the feeding. If you are able to help either of these times, or wish to contribute food or make a monetary donation, please contact Phyllis Chai, 408-226-7150.

Second Harvest Food Bank: Our bin for Second Harvest Food Bank non-perishable food donations in unbreakable containers is located in the Narthex. On Sundays we can expect to see a picnic basket by the altar in the sanctuary, to receive our food gifts. During the summer months our donations continue to be welcome and are needed, realizing that hunger never takes a vacation, even when school is not in session. For more information, please contact Phyllis Chai, 408-226-7150.

Back Packs: Look for more information to come, in an upcoming Midweek message, regarding the need for checks to purchase back packs and school supplies for children living at the LifeMoves (formerly IVSN, InnVision Shelter Network) shelters. For more information, please contact Phyllis Chai, 408-226-7150.

Beneficio Coffee: Both our Joint Venture congregations continue to serve Beneficio (More Than Fair Trade) Coffee. A 12-oz. bag of beans (ground or not, as preferred) sells for $10.50. To learn more about the Beneficio mission or to purchase the coffee please contact Phyllis Chai (408-226-7150), and know that you will be helping the small scale farmers in Costa Rica and their families.

Night Ministry: The Red San Francisco Night Ministry Box in the Narthex welcomes our donations of clothing, and always, warm (dark especially) socks. Rev. Monique is very appreciative of our sharing.

Phyllis Chai

Day Room 3: During the last quarter, our Life Skills class (delivered Mondays from 4 to 5) in the Julian Street Day Room has continued to evolve. Looking back from this 5th cycle of 10 classes and comparing it to the original, we see large differences. We continue to change based on feedback from our students and instructors. We want meaningful conversational discussions of issues covered in our classes and not to be a lecture series. But we must leave students with something of value. Connie, having had extensive experience with similar groups, continues to do a terrific job of connecting, much of it after the class with students (especially ladies) who are troubled or have questions about the day’s class. Saleem Qadir, as part of the Valley executive job scene brings a wealth of knowledge, highly relevant information and connects especially well having grown up in East San Jose.

One of our students (an Army Iraq War vet, probably PTSD) proudly and excitedly told the class last week that he had just gotten a job. He told the class that he had been very nervous about the interview, but once he got into the interview, he recognized the interview questions as the very ones we had reviewed, trained for, and discussed in the classroom: “Tell me about yourself”, “What is your best skill,” “What is your greatest weakness,” etc.) Paul said he immediately thought: “Hey, I got this, I KNOW how to answer these!” He had a flood of self-confidence followed by great calmness and a sense of self-assurance. He subsequently had a very successful interview. He started work for AT&T this past week. Because of work, he was unable to attend his last class to qualify for a diploma, but the rules were changed so that he received credit for the last class, qualifying for a certificate and a gift card. This is very important to people who have nothing and haven’t had a positive achievement in a long time. We wish Paul well and will miss him. It is customary for employed clients to pay rent and stay at the shelter until they get the job under their belt and find permanent housing.

We also heard from Eloh, (boy-boy) a former student who sent us an email last month telling us of his progress. This time he sent us his business plan for an art/music/video company seeking investors and a review/critique of his business plan. We sent him some ideas (make sure he details his projected revenue stream and expenses) but also told him we did not understand the music business.

It now seems obvious how our classes had to evolve. Example: the original idea of answering “Tell me about yourself” (in a job interview it was suggested the student develop a script which answered: a. What your current status is, b. Describe what you do at work. c. Mention one or two things you’ve accomplished which directly relate to the job to which you aspire, are doing now or your greatest skill in your current job. d. Why are you applying for this job? When we were unsuccessful getting students to create their scripts or practice them in class, we created several anonymous biographies, along with scripts to go with them and used those instead. It went over very well with students in some cases inserting their own stories into the bios. After class, both Connie and I had students who wanted more help developing their script because the average middle class bios we used did not fit. A lady in her 30’s has a history, including spells of homelessness and incarceration, but no employment. How can she positively answer the questions? Our bios were for a different population than we had in our class. How does a 35-year-old single Mom with a drug and prison history but no employment experience positively answer “Tell me about yourself?” We called Judy Salinas at Cal Voc Rehab for help and got some ideas from her and have now created some more meaningful bios and preparation for answers on interviews. Judy acknowledged it was going to be tough and would take a lot of preparation. One important suggestion was that while you were looking for a job, do as much volunteer work, as you can, so you can list that activity as experience, thus improving your “last story.”

On another positive note, some students say that Judge Manley is most favorably impressed with the Certificates of Completion we award after eight classroom hours.

Connie does a terrific job of connecting with students, much of it after the class with women who are troubled.

Our church continues to help in highly focused ways which have great impact. We struggle with staff morale at the shelter for any number of reasons related to economics (salary vs housing costs in this area mostly). Lack of incidents for clients is also a problem. During the last quarter, our congregation bought nearly 100 pairs of new underwear (men’s and women’s) for Julian Street. Our congregation also provided a new replacement for a small refrigerator in the office used by staff and working clients for storing their lunches. Both were very well received and the staff is grateful. We are currently looking for inexpensive flip-flops/shower shoes. We have found the .99 cent flip flops at The Dollar Store are great, but hard to find. We are grateful to Phyllis, the Outreach Committee, and the congregation for help when we need support. We can really see the impact.

CCAV Facebook Page

We have been trying out Facebook as another way of raising visibility for our church community. The url for our page is www.facebook.com/CCAVUCC. The Facebook page can be a wonderful combination of “outreach” and “inreach.” It’s a way we can share information and thoughts among ourselves as well as a platform to reach out to our surrounding community with happenings and events.

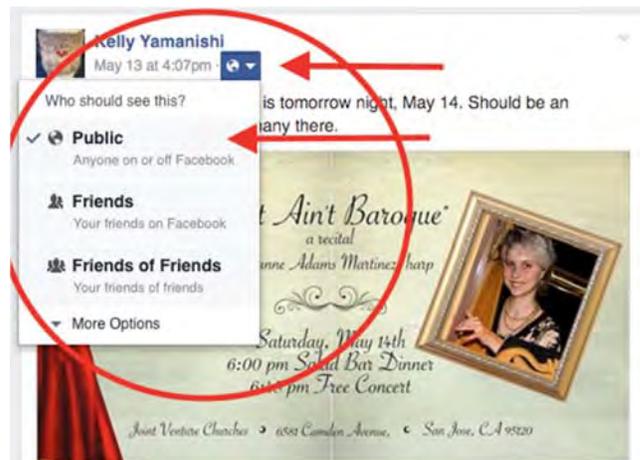

We’ve tried spending a little bit of money (thus far donated and not from the budget) to “promote” various events and posts with some good results in terms of post “likes” and “shares” and “engagements.” Of course it would be lovely if the awareness we are building drew some in to attend with us on Sunday, which has yet to happen. I always remember, though, that what brought me to our community about 12 years ago was a postcard for an event. Many months later, I found myself at a place in life where I was ready to look for a church and that postcard came to mind. I brought my family in for a Sunday service because of, and many months after, an even I never attended! My experience leads me to believe that plain old awareness is a good thing!

You can be a huge help with establishing our Facebook presence in a few ways:

- “Like” the church page (www.facebook.com/CCAVUCC), but don’t stop there! Be sure to turn “notifications” on so that you will see when we post new information.

- “Like” and “Share” our events and promoted posts. If you see a post from the church on a friend’s feed and “like” it, your friends may or may not see the post. But if you click on the post and “share” it to your own timeline from the original post, your friends will see the post, and the word will get spread more broadly—and for free!
- Go “public!” If you’re like me, you may have your default setting on posts to be shared only with “friends,” or “friends or friends,” or some subset of that. After you share a post from the church, if you feel comfortable doing so, consider changing the privacy on just that post to “public.” Then if a friend of yours “likes” the church post, their friends will be able to see it, and so on. If you do it after the share—not while you are sharing—you will change the privacy for that post only and the rest of your feed will remain at your default settings.

- Share your ideas! Be in touch with any thoughts or ideas you have on making better use of social media, or if there are items you would like to see promoted this way. You can email Kelly.yamanishi@gmail.com, or private message me on Facebook.

Thanks for your support of our social media! See you online.
